Nespoli “Pagadebit” Bianco, Emilia Romagna, Italy, 2019 - $11.99 with discount $10.20

This aromatic white is made from the local Bombino Bianco varietal which only grows in Emilia Romagna. “Pagadebit” means pays the bills, and refers to the grape’s ability to withstand cold winters so that the farmers could pay their bills. Perfect for a cold night, this wine is aromatic, like spiced apple cider with flowers and crisp lime zest.

Tegernseerhof “Mittlebach” Rose, Niederoestereich, Austria, 2019 - $13.99 with discount $11.90

This organic rose is made from Zweigelt, the main red grape of Austria. A little richer than the roses from Provence, this wine shows flavors of cranberry and spice, perfect for any holiday table.

Ramos Tinto Reserva, Alentejo, Portugal, 2018 - $12.99, with discount $11.05

This Portuguese blend is everything I look for in a holiday wine. Rich, soft, and fruity, with a peppery spice that almost reminds me of mulling spices. Serve this wine with food or on its own while sitting by the fire.

Lillet Blanc, $23 with discount $19.55
A French wine-based aperitif.
